

ABSTRACT

It was found that miRNA that targets the vicinity of the WT1 gene stop codon not only suppresses the expression of the WT1 gene, but also exhibits a marked effect of suppressing cell growth in cancer cell lines.

5